

Overview

Counselling is an important part of the school guidance programme, offered on an individual or group basis as part of a developmental learning process and at moments of personal crisis. Counselling and guidance process empower learners so that they can make decisions, solve problems, address behavioural issues, develop coping strategies and resolve difficulties they may be experiencing. Counselling in schools may include personal counselling, psychological counselling, educational counselling, career guidance and counselling or combinations of these. However, therapeutic counselling won't be appropriate here.
