Planning Active Learning & Assessment for Effective Teaching during Distance Learning

Investment: PKR 11,000/- (Fee includes training material, certificate & virtual networking)

Overview

The ability to ask and respond to question is the heart of learning. It is observed that we have been focusing primarily on questions regarding the specific information which students possessed rather than questions to promote learning. Questions should play a central role in the learning process and because of this, we as teachers need to plan our questions carefully which will lead to appropriate assessment strategies.

In this 10 hour session, participants will be able to design a meaningful assessment of and for learning as per the demands of 21st century skills.

Focus

- Questions to promote thinking
- Level of Questions – Bloom's taxonomy
- Setting class tests/exam papers using questioning
- Designing authentic assessment
