

Risk Taking

Program Overview

Risk management is a practice most frequently applied by individuals, without often realizing its importance. Managing risk can be considered more important that the application of science in our daily lives. Businesses often apply risk management without incorporating probability theory that can lead to decisions adversely affecting individuals as well as large population by extreme events.

Learning Outcomes

Making decisions under uncertainty.

Understanding how to determine the impact of extreme events.

Learning how to take risks while investing money.

Apply the understanding of extreme events to other industries, including healthcare, nuclear power, aviation, etc.

Trainers Profile

Dr. Mohsin

Dr. Mohsin, Assistant Professor at the Institute of Business administration Karachi, holds a PhD in Finance from La Trobe University, Australia. He completed his MBA degree from Northeastern University, USA and BS in Computer Science from King Fahd University (KFUPM), Saudi Arabia. He has also completed the Real World Risk Institute (RWRI) training regarding the application of risk management through the application of probability theory.

Who Should Attend

Risk managers Corporate executives Analysts Finance professionals

For further details

Skills Development Program Center for Executive Education Tel: 021-38104700-01 | Ext. 1811, 1813 & 1814 C 5:00 pm to 9:00 pm

